New Water Finance Study Is Suggested

Engineers Would Revise Present Way Of Paying for More Extended Service

A new method of financing water service extensions here will be studied, the Board of Water Commissioners decided last night.

A report by Bogert & Childs, of New York, (formerly Clinton L. Bogert Associates) the board's consulting engineers, suggested revision of present financing of extended service. It was referred to the board's extension and improvement and finance committees.

IT WAS INDICATED that the new method would be more self-liquidating. Details will be announced, if the board decides to adopt the new method.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, today noted that the city now has 10 new developments pending. These involve an estimated 350 new building lots and would mean installation of about 12,000 feet of new piping.

AMONG THE LARGER projects pending are those of Kingston Park, Inc., which plans to build 71 houses in an area off Kiersted avenue, and Linderman Knolls, off Linderman avenue, where 66 homes are planned. Others projected are the Davis development, off Linderman avenue, the DuBois development off Main street, another near Grandview, another off Lucas avenue, and a few scattered small developments.

A large share of the new homes will be in the 12th ward where a new high pressure service is being installed.

Formal dedication of this new system, which includes a 700,000 gallon standpipe off Pearl street, is slated for Sunday, May 15, at 2 p. m., on Grandview avenue. Details of the dedication program will be announced.

Industrial Expansion Is Reason

40 Students Are To Make Check

A survey of the housing situation in the city of Kingston will be made next week under the direction of Richard W. Hill Jr., director of the Bureau of Research, State Division of Housing, in cooperation with the Kingston Housing Authority, it was announced today by George E. Yerry Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority.

The local Housing Authority is charged with the responsibility of making periodic surveys of the housing situation to determine the needs and to augment information which was made available during the 1950 census.

FORTY STUDENTS at the New Paltz Teachers College will gather the information which will be studied by the authority.

Mr. Yerry pointed out that the information sought will be confidential and there will be no names associated with the survey.

Monday and Tuesday the students who will make the house to house survey will be briefed at the college as to the manner of making the survey and it is expected the survey will get under way by the middle or latter part of the week. Householders who are called upon are asked to co-operate with the workers.

INCLUDED in the information will be facts which will give data on vacancies, rent levels, family income, etc., to bring the 1950 census information to date and enable an appraisal of the current housing situation in Kingston. Such an appraisal can be expanded in a market analysis of the area which will consider the impact of IBM operations and other industrial operations in the area.

It will also reveal certain information from transient IBM employees to indicate their housing preferences, and so estimate what plans should be made by local builders and the need for additional subdivision and appropriate controls.

WITH THE rapidly expanding industrial program in Kingston there is serious need for information as to how many of the new families will be on the market for purchasing homes, rental of homes and how many will be in the market to erect new homes. Salk Supplies Ordered Held Up

A check on the polio situation today revealed that release of any additional Salk vaccine has been halted pending a complete study of the situation by top medical scientists, and that no new cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to health authorities in Ulster or Dutchess counties within the past week.

ACCORDING to an Associated Press story from Washington, D. C., Surgeon Gen. Leonard Schlee told the House Banking Committee that production of vaccine is continuing, but Federal review and approval of additional supplies has been held off now "for several days."

Schlee, head of the U. S. Public Health Service, said the program of releasing vaccine thus has been "brought to a standstill" for the time being.

EARLIER, he had said, he feels confident however, that a conference of scientists now under way here will conclude that the vaccine is excellent and that nationwide inoculation should be continued.

Both Ulster and Dutchess counties have reported two resident cases each since January 1.

Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, said one resident case was reported here about March 28, and the second case on April 22. Neither patient had received the Salk vaccine in last year's trials, Dr. Hargrave said when reporting the April 22 case.

THE PATIENT in the first case is a New Paltz boy, 6½, who was taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie for treatment. The case was reported to be mild, with little muscle involvement. The second case involved a four-year-old boy from the northern part of the county, who is undergoing treatment at the Benedictine Hospital and is expected to be transferred to Haverstraw for rehabilitation treatment shortly.

Dutchess county's two resident cases were reported in January and April, according to the district office of the New York State Health Department. In addition, Dutchess county reported as a non-resident case the New Paltz boy who was taken to that county for treatment.

Gifts and momentos of the occasion were exchanged. The Canadian club presented the local club with a Canadian Jack, in return for a Flag of the United States that was given the Canadian club last year by a delegation of local Kiwanians. $125,000 Bond Issue Sought

Ulster Board Approves Road Project Near IBM

During a meeting Thursday night the Town Board of the Town of Ulster unanimously voted to widen the town roads immediately adjoining the IBM plant 16½ feet and to submit to the voters of the Town of Ulster on May 28 a proposal to issue $125,000 of town bonds to pay for such improvements. Members of the board also signed a letter, to be mailed to each taxpayer before the vote is taken, explaining the necessities for such road improvements and pointing out that the cost of the entire project will be much more than totally met by the general taxes to be levied against the IBM real property itself and will not actually cost any other taxpayer of the Town of Ulster any amount.

THE ROADS proposed to be widened are Boice's Lane, extending from the Neighborhood road on north to Route 9W on the southeast, and Morton Boulevard, extending from its intersection with Boice's Lane on the north to Route 209 leading along Albany avenue extension to the City of Kingston on the south.

Nearly all of the land required for the widening of these roads is now owned by the IBM Corporation and will be conveyed by it to the Town of Ulster without charge. A few strips of land belonging to other owners will be acquired by purchase or condemnation.

TOWN OF ULSTER Supervisor Percy Bush said that the members of the Town Board were unanimously agreed that present and prospective heavy traffic on Boice's Lane and Morton Boulevard demanded prompt action by the Town of Ulster to widen and improve such roads. He said that the existing roads are only 18 feet wide; that the present number of employes at the IBM plant is about 2,000; that by July 1955 this number will increase to 2,500 and that, when the additions to the plant already authorized have been completed, the total number of IBM employes using such roads will be from 4,000 to 5,000 persons. He said that such widened roads would also be of benefit (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Telephone Co. Is Making Ready For Dial System

Bids are being accepted for extensive changes in the local plant of the New York Telephone Co., it was learned today from Leonard Herrick, manager, to permit addition of 1,080 lines with necessary switchboard positions plus some long distance facilities.

TENTATIVE plans for changing to the dial system in the "next several years" will require additional space, Mr. Herrick said. These plans might include the construction of an addition on the adjoining low owned by the company and perhaps the addition of one or more stories on top of a portion of the present building, it was learned.

Company engineers are working on plans which are subject to final approval. The project is due for completion next December.

Fair Street Church Plans Education, Parish Houses

The Greater Consistory of the Fair Street Reformed Church voted Thursday night to have the consistory present to the congregation a proposal for erection of a new educational building and parish house, together with a tentative financial program for it.

The action was taken after the proposal was presented by the consistory's progress study committee.

Sam S. Pepper, superintendent of the Sunday School, stressed the overcrowded condition of present facilities and reported there has been an increase in attendance of one-third over the past church year. Ulster Board Approves Road Project Near IBM

During a meeting Thursday night the Town Board of the Town of Ulster unanimously voted to widen the town roads immediately adjoining the IBM plant 16½ feet and to submit to the voters of the Town of Ulster on May 28 a proposal to issue $125,000 of town bonds to pay for such improvements. Members of the board also signed a letter, to be mailed to each taxpayer before the vote is taken, explaining the necessities for such road improvements and pointing out that the cost of the entire project will be much more than totally met by the general taxes to be levied against the IBM real property itself and will not actually cost any other taxpayer of the Town of Ulster any amount.

THE ROADS proposed to be widened are Boice's Lane, extending from the Neighborhood road on north to Route 9W on the southeast, and Morton Boulevard, extending from its intersection with Boice's Lane on the north to Route 209 leading along Albany avenue extension to the City of Kingston on the south.

Nearly all of the land required for the widening of these roads is now owned by the IBM Corporation and will be conveyed by it to the Town of Ulster without charge. A few strips of land belonging to other owners will be acquired by purchase or condemnation.

TOWN OF ULSTER Supervisor Percy Bush said that the members of the Town Board were unanimously agreed that present and prospective heavy traffic on Boice's Lane and Morton Boulevard demanded prompt action by the Town of Ulster to widen and improve such roads. He said that the existing roads are only 18 feet wide; that the present number of employes at the IBM plant is about 2,000; that by July 1955 this number will increase to 2,500 and that, when the additions to the plant already authorized have been completed, the total number of IBM employes using such roads will be from 4,000 to 5,000 persons. He said that such widened roads would also be of benefit to numerous other residents of the Town of Ulster and other localities constantly using the roads. He said that the board felt that to safely accommodate such huge traffic on the existing 18 foot roads was a practical impossibility.

SUPERVISOR BUSH also said that he was fully confident that the proposed bond issue of $125,000 to finance the road project would be approved by the voters of the Town of Ulster without opposition. He said that it was obvious from carefully compiled estimates of the general taxes which would be assessed against IMB property itself during the next five years that such taxes would not only pay off the entire bond issue and all interest thereon, but would exceed such requirements by more than $200,000 during the five year period. He said that he could not conceive of any bond issue which would be less painful financially to taxpayers of the Town of Ulster, other than the IBM Corporation, than the present proposed bond issue.

Present at the meeting were all of the members of the board consisting of Supervisor Bush, Justices of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt and Millard T. Davis and Councilmen Donald C. Also part of the improvement program will be the construction of a new concrete and steel bridge to replace the old inadequate one now crossing the Plattekill to what is now known as Mt. Marion Park.

The new bridge, according to highway department specifications, will be 80 feet in length and will have a 22 foot roadway with a four foot sidewalk. Soil explorations have already begun at the site and actual construction is contemplated this year.

A HIGHWAY department spokesman said that the entire road improvement and bridge project is on this year's program and according to Supervisor Williams funds in the current county budget have been allocated for the program.

Supervisor Williams said the program was instituted due to the increased amount of traffic now using the back road to Saugerties and also to prepare for the anticipated need of Mt. Marion residents who will be looking for the quickest and safest route to a shopping center.

to numerous other residents of the Town of Ulster and other localities constantly using the roads. He said that the board felt that to safely accommodate such huge traffic on the existing 18 foot roads was a practical impossibility.

SUPERVISOR BUSH also said that he was fully confident that the proposed bond issue of $125,000 to finance the road project would be approved by the voters of the Town of Ulster without opposition. He said that it was obvious from carefully compiled estimates of the general taxes which would be assessed against IMB property itself during the next five years that such taxes would not only pay off the entire bond issue and all interest thereon, but would exceed such requirements by more than $200,000 during the five year period. He said that he could not conceive of any bond issue which would be less painful financially to taxpayers of the Town of Ulster, other than the IBM Corporation, than the present proposed bond issue.

Present at the meeting were all of the members of the board consisting of Supervisor Bush, Justices of the Peace Harold E. Macholdt and Millard T. Davis and Councilmen Donald C. Parish, and Elizabeth Acker. Also present were Louis A. DiDonna, town attorney; Laura K. Every, town clerk; Gavin A. Cullen, general manager of the IBM Kingston Plant and George F. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1955

THEY WERE SEVENTEEN

Willie Baxter knew all of the exhilaration, the heartbreak, the loneliness of that period in life when a boy is ceasing to be a boy and becoming a man. He was, in his bumbling, seventeen-year-old fashion, searching for love and fulfillment and he vaguely realized that life is a happy and sad, a strange and wonderful, a frightening thing. Willie was the kind of kid we would like our younger brother or our son to be—the sort of boy we are delighted to see call on our daughter, for all of his awkwardness. Lots of kids are still that way at seventeen. Unfortunately not all of them.

Frank Santana is seventeen. He lives in New York City. The other night, coldly, without reason or excuse, he killed another boy, fifteen. At the police station he laughed and joked with other boys who had been arrested with him.

Why did this seventeen-year-old kill? What twisted him until he could kill and then laugh? Did he ever know any of the wonder, the gentle awakening into manhood of the boy in the Tarkington book?

We can lock Santana up where it will be difficult for him to kill again. But what of the other seventeen-year-olds who have never been seventeen—who are vicious, cruel and menacing instead of nice, mildly silly, confused kids? Maybe we had better devote more time—a lot more time—to finding the answers.

REDS' IDEA OF NEUTRALITY

At any one point in time, the Soviet Union may seem generally more conciliatory or less so in its relations with the free world.

When the Kremlin is stressing "peace" and the easing of tensions, it is well to remember, however, that the Communists are playing a global game. Talk of peace in one quarter may be matched by tough words—or action—in another.

Right now we can find a good illustration of this in Europe. With a suspicious urgency, the Reds have offered over-generous peace treaty terms to the Austrians. They're so eager to sign on the dotted line they show impatience with Western insistence on a preliminary meeting of the various big power ambassadors.

But meanwhile the Russians, through their puppet East German regime, are demonstrating in an area not too far from Austria just what "normal" relations with the Communists can be like.

The Reds have by slow degrees begun clamping a sort of "cold blockade" on the city of Berlin. A few weeks ago they suddenly imposed new highway tolls on trucks plying between Berlin and West Germany. They multiplied the charges 11 times.

Now they have started seizing trucks as in the old days, confiscating cargoes, mostly of scrap metal. There have been waves of scrap seizures before, always on some phony pretext. Berlin's leaders believe the on again-off again harassment of traffic is part of a ruthless Red plan to scare business from the city and reverse the healthy trend of its economic improvement.

How any sane German can watch these tactics and believe that the Kremlin is his friend is hard to see. Russia doesn't know the meaning of the phrase, "live and let live." The only kind of neutrality it is interested in for Austria, Germany or anybody else is a brand it believes will permit it eventually to dominate the neutral nation.

In the Kremlin's world, there are as many kinds of warfare as there are kinds of human endeavor. As strategy demands, the Communists may shut off one type or another. But the great goal of conquest and domination is never forgotten.

When and if the Western ambassadors meet at Vienna to discuss Austria's peace treaty, we must hope that the West's understandable wish for a real easing of tensions does not blind it to the dangers.

We must hope that our representatives remember Berlin, not alone in the "hot" blockade of 1948-49, but as imperiled by the cold blockade of 1955.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHOSE DEBT IS IT?

While the British show a surplus for this fiscal year and expect a surplus for the next fiscal year, the United States continues to be in debt and the debt increases. It is now hovering around $280,000,000,000 and that does not include the guarantees and commitments of $244,000,000,000 to which the Hoover Commission calls attention.

Senator Harry F. Byrd makes the point:

"The mere task of keeping up interest payments on this debt accounts for 10 cents out of every tax dollar you and I pay. We must spend more than $6,000,000,000 a year just on interest alone! This same money, if we could use it for constructive purposes, would build us half a million fine homes or buy us 3,000,000 new automobiles."

If we did not buy new homes or new automobiles, if we saved some of the money that we could earn each year, each family would have more security, just as our forebears erected their security upon their own labor and ingenuity. The error of our times is that we are being trained to believe that security comes from government as a benefit and a favor. This has never been true over any long period of time. Security is best when it is based on private savings and private possessions.

The Northeast Farm Foundation of Ithaca, New York, calls attention to the fact that while the average capital investment for each worker on each farm in 1940 was $3,500, in 1955, the investment is $14,000. It defines its figures as follows:

". . . Besides this capital invested directly in productive items such as land, buildings, livestock, etc., farmers also have invested about $5,000 per worker additional, this being in dwellings, goods, autos, savings, etc. Part of this increase in capital invested represents increase in prices. . . ."

These figures apply to all farms in the United States; if only full time commercial farms are considered, the figure would be "at least $20,000."

"The value of machinery and equipment alone, back of each farm worker, is now nearly $1,900. In 1940 it was little more than $200. This is taking the average of all farms in the U. S., big and little. On the commercial farms that produce most of the nation's food and fiber, the figure is much bigger. This amazing progress in mechanization has enabled farmers to turn out more products than in prewar days, with one-fourth fewer workers."

What the article in question does not say is that the high prices in farm equipment, etc., are due to the depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar and the national debt is a large factor in that. Prices go up when the value of money goes down. Unless the debt is reduced and the cost of the operations of government is reduced, the purchasing power of the dollar cannot be raised. Senator Byrd makes this point dramatically by saying that if "you had put $1,000 away in a safe-deposit box in 1940, they are today worth only $520 in 1940 values."

Of course, it is a bit dangerous to put money in a safe-deposit box because one day Senator Byrd's fellow Virginian, T. Coleman Andrews, who collects our taxes, might want to know why the money was in the box and not in circulation, which might be hard to explain. But what Senator Byrd says is true about savings of all kinds, with the exception of such investments as stocks which rise in sales prices. The benefits in an inflationary period usually go to the courageous gambler and speculator, not the thrifty saver. But it is the thrifty saver who made America rich and powerful and who provided real security for his widow and their children.

It is good sometimes to talk about money because it is so important in our lives. This country was built and made strong by a system of each individual keeping his earnings and doing with them as he chose. Nowadays, the Government takes a large share of our earnings for necessary and unnecessary activities. Herbert Hoover's Commission is establishing the record of how much of government activity and expenditure is unnecessary and how much can be saved. Unless the national debt is reduced, the value of the American dollar cannot be stabilized.

CD GIVES WAY TO CDD

A short time ago I was reading an issue of the Chronic Illness News Letter and came across a mesage that points up the change that has been taking place in the problems of medicine over the last few years. It pointed out that since early in the twentieth century, public health workers have concentrated much of their effort on the control of acute communicable diseases. Today, these once deadly diseases no longer present a major threat to the health of babies and children. Widespread and continuing application of public health measures such as improved sanitation, clean food and milk, and immunizations against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus has helped to overcome the hazards of these and other communicable diseases. Family physicians and public health workers have accomplished this task as a vast community enterprise.

Although CD, as we familiarly refer to acute communicable diseases, has been brought fairly well under control, the guards must not be let down. However, partly because of the greater number of older persons and partly because of these advances in control, CD has been replaced as our principal health problem by a more formidable adversary, CDD — chronic disease and disability. CDD includes heart disease, cancer, diabetes, arthritis, and many other long-term illnesse and disabling conditions which are difficult to treat and, in most cases, even more difficult to cure.

Children with CDD from crippled limbs and deformities present from birth are being helped in many centers, but palsy and muscular dystrophy need much more help and it is hoped that a new vaccine against polio will prove effective in controlling this costly disabler.

It now seems clear that official and voluntary health agencies should transfer a considerable share of their attention and resources from CD to CDD. In doing so, in most cases, there are no simple preventive measures of the type that have brought smallpox and diphtheria under control. However, by skillfully blending geriatrics with rehabilitation services, we can accomplish lasting benefits in a surprising number of older people. Diease and disability (DD) are already present among many of our older citizens and the major task is now to keep CDD from progressing and to help give old age a dignified pattern of life that "will be a comfort to the receivers and a benefit to the givers."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—A feminine "Kitchen Kabinet" to tell the housewives of America what work is being done by President Eisenhower's regular, all—(but one)—male Cabinet is now being organized by the National Federation of Republican Women.

This would seem to be just what's needed around here. There are so many things that need explaining. The new Department of Defense policy on censorship, for instance. Or the State Department's policy on liberation.

The rather cute press release announcing this new political gimmick said that the Kitchen Kabinet would put out, "nutritious political recipes to serve their friends and neighbors with a cup of coffee."

This quote was attributed to Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, wife of the Pennsylvania Congressman and president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

"MONTHLY RECIPES," it said, would be made available by the Kitchen Kabinet to keep the Republican club women of America informed on "what's cooking in Washington."

Take several billion bushels of surplus wheat. Grind through legislative mill. Sift into bowl of public debate. Add slowly equal amounts of surplus dry milk solids and butter. Water with an appropriation of several million dollars.

Season with a domestic sugar quota. Stir until thoroughly confused. Bake in the spotlight of publicity. Set aside to cool. Ice with foreign aid gravy, applied liberally. Slice like baloney and serve with shipping subsidy cookies.

But seriously, the big idea here is to get some prominent Republican woman to volunteer her services as an honorary, unpaid "Madam Secretary" for each department of government.

SHE WOULDN'T EXACTLY sit full time in the office of the real Secretary, or on his lap, to spy on what he was doing. She would just keep in touch.

It would be Mme. Sec's.—careful to spell that with a "c" and not an "x"—It would be Mme. Sec's. job to keep herself informed on all the activities of "her" department. Then every month or so she would whip up one of these recipes to let the housewives know what's cooking.

The recipes would be sent to the 4000 local Republican women's clubs, which have a total of 500,000 members. In each one of these local clubs there would be a kind of local Mme. Sec. for each department. Together they would make 4000 local Kitchen Kabinets if everybody joined the fun.

Through these local Kitchen Kabinets, by word of mouth, over the telephone or at tea parties, the news would be spread around on the accomplishments of the Republican administration in Washington. You can imagine a sample conversation:

MRS. SMITH—"YOU KNOW, DEAR, I just got the grandest new monthly recipe from Mme. Attorney General in Washington today. Yes. She told me that Congress had just passed H.R. 4426, to amend the act of 1922 relating to installation of telephones in certain private residences for Federal use. How DO you suppose the government got along without that before?"

Mrs. Brown—"Do tell."

There was some consideration at first about asking the actual wives of the real Cabinet members to take these Kitchen Kabinet jobs. They'd certainly know their husband's business better than he would, anyway.

But in the end it was decided to ask the real Cabinet wives to serve only as advisers or consultants to the Kitchen Kabinet ladies.

None of these Kitchen Kabineteers has been named as yet. It may be a month or more before they're announced. And they probably won't start sending out their recipes on what's cooking in Washington till next fall.

Can you wait?

The Mosque That Was Built By a Skull

The Mosque of the Skull. The Ferhadiya Mosque in Banjaluka, Yugoslavia was built with money obtained as ransom for a skull. The skull was that of the Austrian General von Auersperg who was slain in a battle against the Turks on Sept. 22, 1575. His head was cut off and sent to Instanbul as a trophy. The general's family paid $20,000 to have the head returned for Christian burial and it is with this money that the victor, the Turkish general Ferhad Bey built the mosque which bears his name to the present day.

New Pipe Line Across Spain Considered Logical Move for United States

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Madrid, May 6—Construction is to begin this month on a pipeline nearly 500 miles long to carry fuel from an Atlantic port on the coast of Spain to three big air bases far inland. All the plans have been made and the workers have been assembled for what is perhaps the most spectacular project in the American defense program inside Spain.

Starting at Cadiz, which is a few miles from Gibraltar, and running to Seville and then to a point near Madrid and finally across country to Saragossa, this modern means of transportation has been found necessary because of the meager facilities by rail and highway. It will take 435 calendar days to complete the job, and the line should be functioning in the latter half of 1956.

The government of Spain has given every cooperation to the American and Spanish contractors who have joined together to build the line, which will cost a little less than $5,000,000 for labor and an equal sum for materials. Bids were taken from various contractors, and the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder. A Spanish company, as is required by regulation here, participates with a minority interest and virtually all the employes are Spanish. The wages paid are those that prevail in Spain and American contractors scrupulously comply with all the requirements for payment of holidays, including Sundays, and for social security compensation. While the wage rate, as set by the unions in cooperation with the government, is not high, relatively speaking, it is to be noted that the price level for living costs is not high here, either.

The entire construction is under the auspices of the United States Navy, which functions as a part of the joint military mission headed by Gen. August Kissner, of the United States Air Forces. The pipeline crosses two mountain ranges, one in the south and one in the north, and will be placed three feet under ground. It can be repaired quickly if there is any sabotage, though it is expected that local guards will be sufficiently vigilant to prevent damage. The line will supply not only the fuel requirement of the American Air Force and Navy but also those of the Spanish military forces. It is a godsend to Spain.

This is only a part of the overall program in Spain where a total of about $300,000,000 will be spent over the next four years in the defense project instituted by the United States with the co-operation of the Spanish authorities. In addition to this, there are some small appropriations for economic aid, so that the total spent by the United States in Spain over a four-year period may be around $500,000,000. This is, however, the smallest sum spent in any European country which plays a major part in the Allied defense plans.

Thus, latest figures from the United States Department of Commerce show that Britain has received in economic aid alone nearly $7,000,000,000 and France $5,200,000,000, West Germany $3,800,000,000, Italy $2,700,000,000, Greece $1,300,000,000, and the Netherlands $1,100,000,000. Even Russia, between the end of the war and 1947, got $426,000,000, and all of Eastern Europe about $1,100,000,000. But Spain, for unexplained reasons, has been neglected and only now are officials in Washington awakening to the strategic importance of this country.

It would take so little, relatively speaking, to bolster the Spanish economy and strengthen the whole country to assure effective military cooperation with the United States that it is unfortunate the Iberian peninsula as a whole has not come in for more attention in the past. For, with the American Navy assuming the biggest responsibility in the Mediterranean and the American Air Force using the new bases here as an operational front that can send planes into the heartland of Europe, it is nothing less than a tragedy that so much time already has been lost.

When France was defeated in 1940 and American air power came into the war in 1941, the only bases available were those in Britain. The war might have been shortened if the United States Strategic Air Force could have had bases like those it is building today in Spain. If, moreover, the political situation inside Britain should some day produce a restraint against our use of bases there for atomic warfare, the Spanish bases will provide an invaluable alternative. America's defense investment in Spain, therefore, is as logical as it is farsighted.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Myron and Sylvia Delaney had a terrible scrap about Venice. They went to a party for $50 a plate where they were giving a medal to Pietro Savon, some noted Italian movie director, for his services to brotherhood in the world-wide fight against communism and it might be that Sylvia got a little bit loaded on that wine and stuff, but on the way home she said: "Gee, I would give anything to go to Venice, why don't you take me to Venice."

Myron said, "Why do you want to go to Venice?"

She said, "because it is so romantic."

He said, "so is Council Bluffs. A lot of people got in love and got married and had a lot of kids in Council Bluffs."

She said, "Oh, don't put on that homespun American deal, we are not getting any younger and you have got plenty of dough now with those government checks for the hay and the depreciation and all that stuff. A girl gets tired of the same old faces, the same places all the time. I want to live."

He said, "You are living, aren't you? You never had it so good."

Sylvia said, "Oh, don't be so sarcastic, why don't you take me to Venice? I want to ride in a gondola with a guy singing 'Santa Lucia.'"

Myron said, "Venice is out. Nothing doing. You can ride in a gondola at Riverside Park—25c a trip."

They did not say anything more for a few blocks and then he said, "I will buy you all the spaghetti and Italian steam clams you can hold right here at the Vesuvius Restaurant. Tony Caruso is the best chef in the world for Italian food. He was born in Italy, learned the game from his father."

She said, "Oh, but that isn't the same. I want to see the pigeons at St. Mark's."

He said, "I didn't know you were such a pigeon fan but okay, I will buy a crate of pigeons and ten pounds of scratch but that Marx was a lousy Red and I am not going across any ocean 3,000 miles to feed any pigeons."

She said, "Oh that is a terrible thing to say, calling St. Mark a lousy Red, God will punish you, you just see."

He said, "You said 'Marx,' and I say the bum was a lousy Red, and he was, too, the bum."

They got that straightened out. Myron might have had a little bundle on himself, so maybe he did think she said "Marx" instead of "Saint Mark's."

He said, "You don't have to go to Italy to get away from the same old faces. Have you ever been to Gary? You would not know a soul in Gary. I will take you to Gary, Indiana, on beautiful Lake Michigan, where we will be absolutely among strangers just like in Venice and it won't cost any $3,000 each, either. We can get the best suite in that hotel there, I forget the name of it—a three-story, red brick deal. I was there once trying to see a guy, and you can get two good-size bedrooms with a parlor in between, prabably wtih a television. I will call up the flower store and keep the parlor filled with roses till you sneeze your head off, but Venice is out. Absolutely nothing doing on that Venice proposition."

Sylvia said well just the same when a girl has been married that long to a guy the least the bum could do was to take her for a trip to Venice for a ride in a gondola. I just love Santa Lucia. He said, heck, he could sing it right now. Right here in the good old U.S.A. Probably better than some dumb gondolier, because Myron was on the glee club at De Pauw and they used Santa Lucia for the encore wham-sock. So he opened his trap and began to holler Santa Lucia like crazy. They came to a light and a cop walked over and asked is everything under control? Myron said sure, he was just singing like a gondolier. The cop said well tone it down, people are trying to sleep around here.

Sylvia kept pestering all the way home, Venice, Venice, Venice, pigeons, Santa Lucia, Saint Mark's and a rest from the same old familiar faces, the same old gags at the same old parties, some time a girl has got to get away from it all.

He said well, then she would not want him along with his old familiar face. He said, "if it comes to that, that pan of yours is getting no younger and it certainly is familiar, why don't you take it to Venice and I will go to Gary and look up a new face for myself."

It is the darnedest thing the way those kind of deals grow into fights. Now Sylvia keeps sniffing about some babe in Gary, Indiana. It is mighty funny how all of a sudden he is so crazy about Gary. Who ever heard of going to Gary, Indiana, instead of Venice, Italy? The way he has been acting lately, she kind of suspected something suspicious.

Myron says he has not been in Gary, Indiana, for 15 years, he just gets darn good and tired of people tearing off to those European places, you can't understand their language. What about Evansville? They have got a big river and rowboats and you can take a record-player and play Santa Lucia till it makes you sick. And if some dumb waiter sticks his thumb in your soup you do not exclaim how picturesque and quaint. You holler "hey, you dumb Hoosier, get your thumb out of my soup."

Or what about Wheeling? Or what about beautiful St. Louis in the summer? And if you want pigeons, the courthouse is the place. Pigeons as big as buzzards.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 6, 1955

THEY WERE SEVENTEEN

Willie Baxter knew all of the exhilaration, the heartbreak, the loneliness of that period in life when a boy is ceasing to be a boy and becoming a man. He was, in his bumbling, seventeen-year-old fashion, searching for love and fulfillment and he vaguely realized that life is a happy and sad, a strange and wonderful, a frightening thing. Willie was the kind of kid we would like our younger brother or our son to be—the sort of boy we are delighted to see call on our daughter, for all of his awkwardness. Lots of kids are still that way at seventeen. Unfortunately not all of them.

Frank Santana is seventeen. He lives in New York City. The other night, coldly, without reason or excuse, he killed another boy, fifteen. At the police station he laughed and joked with other boys who had been arrested with him.

Why did this seventeen-year-old kill? What twisted him until he could kill and then laugh? Did he ever know any of the wonder, the gentle awakening into manhood of the boy in the Tarkington book?

We can lock Santana up where it will be difficult for him to kill again. But what of the other seventeen-year-olds who have never been seventeen—who are vicious, cruel and menacing instead of nice, mildly silly, confused kids? Maybe we had better devote more time—a lot more time—to finding the answers.

REDS' IDEA OF NEUTRALITY

At any one point in time, the Soviet Union may seem generally more conciliatory or less so in its relations with the free world.

When the Kremlin is stressing "peace" and the easing of tensions, it is well to remember, however, that the Communists are playing a global game. Talk of peace in one quarter may be matched by tough words—or action—in another.

Right now we can find a good illustration of this in Europe. With a suspicious urgency, the Reds have offered over-generous peace treaty terms to the Austrians. They're so eager to sign on the dotted line they show impatience with Western insistence on a preliminary meeting of the various big power ambassadors.

But meanwhile the Russians, through their puppet East German regime, are demonstrating in an area not too far from Austria just what "normal" relations with the Communists can be like.

The Reds have by slow degrees begun clamping a sort of "cold blockade" on the city of Berlin. A few weeks ago they suddenly imposed new highway tolls on trucks plying between Berlin and West Germany. They multiplied the charges 11 times.

Now they have started seizing trucks as in the old days, confiscating cargoes, mostly of scrap metal. There have been waves of scrap seizures before, always on some phony pretext. Berlin's leaders believe the on again-off again harassment of traffic is part of a ruthless Red plan to scare business from the city and reverse the healthy trend of its economic improvement.

How any sane German can watch these tactics and believe that the Kremlin is his friend is hard to see. Russia doesn't know the meaning of the phrase, "live and let live." The only kind of neutrality it is interested in for Austria, Germany or anybody else is a brand it believes will permit it eventually to dominate the neutral nation.

In the Kremlin's world, there are as many kinds of warfare as there are kinds of human endeavor. As strategy demands, the Communists may shut off one type or another. But the great goal of conquest and domination is never forgotten.

When and if the Western ambassadors meet at Vienna to discuss Austria's peace treaty, we must hope that the West's understandable wish for a real easing of tensions does not blind it to the dangers.

We must hope that our representatives remember Berlin, not alone in the "hot" blockade of 1948-49, but as imperiled by the cold blockade of 1955.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WHOSE DEBT IS IT?

While the British show a surplus for this fiscal year and expect a surplus for the next fiscal year, the United States continues to be in debt and the debt increases. It is now hovering around $280,000,000,000 and that does not include the guarantees and commitments of $244,000,000,000 to which the Hoover Commission calls attention.

Senator Harry F. Byrd makes the point:

"The mere task of keeping up interest payments on this debt accounts for 10 cents out of every tax dollar you and I pay. We must spend more than $6,000,000,000 a year just on interest alone! This same money, if we could use it for constructive purposes, would build us half a million fine homes or buy us 3,000,000 new automobiles."

If we did not buy new homes or new automobiles, if we saved some of the money that we could earn each year, each family would have more security, just as our forebears erected their security upon their own labor and ingenuity. The error of our times is that we are being trained to believe that security comes from government as a benefit and a favor. This has never been true over any long period of time. Security is best when it is based on private savings and private possessions.

The Northeast Farm Foundation of Ithaca, New York, calls attention to the fact that while the average capital investment for each worker on each farm in 1940 was $3,500, in 1955, the investment is $14,000. It defines its figures as follows:

". . . Besides this capital invested directly in productive items such as land, buildings, livestock, etc., farmers also have invested about $5,000 per worker additional, this being in dwellings, goods, autos, savings, etc. Part of this increase in capital invested represents increase in prices. . . ."

"The value of machinery and equipment alone, back of each farm worker, is now nearly $1,900. In 1940 it was little more than $200. This is taking the average of all farms in the U. S., big and little. On the commercial farms that produce most of the nation's food and fiber, the figure is much bigger. This amazing progress in mechanization has enabled farmers to turn out more products than in prewar days, with one-fourth fewer workers."

What the article in question does not say is that the high prices in farm equipment, etc., are due to the depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar and the national debt is a large factor in that. Prices go up when the value of money goes down. Unless the debt is reduced and the cost of the operations of government is reduced, the purchasing power of the dollar cannot be raised. Senator Byrd makes this point dramatically by saying that if "you had put $1,000 away in a safe-deposit box in 1940, they are today worth only $520 in 1940 values."

Of course, it is a bit dangerous to put money in a safe-deposit box because one day Senator Byrd's fellow Virginian, T. Coleman Andrews, who collects our taxes, might want to know why the money was in the box and not in circulation, which might be hard to explain. But what Senator Byrd says is true about savings of all kinds, with the exception of such investments as stocks which rise in sales prices. The benefits in an inflationary period usually go to the courageous gambler and speculator, not the thrifty saver. But it is the thrifty saver who made America rich and powerful and who provided real security for his widow and their children.

It is good sometimes to talk about money because it is so important in our lives. This country was built and made strong by a system of each individual keeping his earnings and doing with them as he chose. Nowadays, the Government takes a large share of our earnings for necessary and unnecessary activities. Herbert Hoover's Commission is establishing the record of how much of government activity and expenditure is unnecessary and how much can be saved. Unless the national debt is reduced, the value of the American dollar cannot be stabilized.

That Body of Yours

CD GIVES WAY TO CDD

A short time ago I was reading an issue of the Chronic Illness News Letter and came across a mesage that points up the change that has been taking place in the problems of medicine over the last few years. It pointed out that since early in the twentieth century, public health workers have concentrated much of their effort on the control of acute communicable diseases. Today, these once deadly diseases no longer present a major threat to the health of babies and children. Widespread and continuing application of public health measures such as improved sanitation, clean food and milk, and immunizations against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus has helped to overcome the hazards of these and other communicable diseases. Family physicians and public health workers have accomplished this task as a vast community enterprise.

Although CD, as we familiarly refer to acute communicable diseases, has been brought fairly well under control, the guards must not be let down. However, partly because of the greater number of older persons and partly because of these advances in control, CD has been replaced as our principal health problem by a more formidable adversary, CDD — chronic disease and disability. CDD includes heart disease, cancer, diabetes, arthritis, and many other long-term illnesse and disabling conditions which are difficult to treat and, in most cases, even more difficult to cure.

Children with CDD from crippled limbs and deformities present from birth are being helped in many centers, but palsy and muscular dystrophy need much more help and it is hoped that a new vaccine against polio will prove effective in controlling this costly disabler.

It now seems clear that official and voluntary health agencies should transfer a considerable share of their attention and resources from CD to CDD. In doing so, in most cases, there are no simple preventive measures of the type that have brought smallpox and diphtheria under control. However, by skillfully blending geriatrics with rehabilitation services, we can accomplish lasting benefits in a surprising number of older people. Diease and disability (DD) are already present among many of our older citizens and the major task is now to keep CDD from progressing and to help give old age a dignified pattern of life that "will be a comfort to the receivers and a benefit to the givers."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—A feminine "Kitchen Kabinet" to tell the housewives of America what work is being done by President Eisenhower's regular, all—(but one)—male Cabinet is now being organized by the National Federation of Republican Women.

This would seem to be just what's needed around here. There are so many things that need explaining. The new Department of Defense policy on censorship, for instance. Or the State Department's policy on liberation.

The rather cute press release announcing this new political gimmick said that the Kitchen Kabinet would put out, "nutritious political recipes to serve their friends and neighbors with a cup of coffee."

This quote was attributed to Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, wife of the Pennsylvania Congressman and president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

"MONTHLY RECIPES," it said, would be made available by the Kitchen Kabinet to keep the Republican club women of America informed on "what's cooking in Washington."

Take several billion bushels of surplus wheat. Grind through legislative mill. Sift into bowl of public debate. Add slowly equal amounts of surplus dry milk solids and butter. Water with an appropriation of several million dollars.

Season with a domestic sugar quota. Stir until thoroughly confused. Bake in the spotlight of publicity. Set aside to cool. Ice with foreign aid gravy, applied liberally. Slice like baloney and serve with shipping subsidy cookies.

But seriously, the big idea here is to get some prominent Republican woman to volunteer her services as an honorary, unpaid "Madam Secretary" for each department of government.

SHE WOULDN'T EXACTLY sit full time in the office of the real Secretary, or on his lap, to spy on what he was doing. She would just keep in touch.

It would be Mme. Sec's.—careful to spell that with a "c" and not an "x"—It would be Mme. Sec's. job to keep herself informed on all the activities of "her" department. Then every month or so she would whip up one of these recipes to let the housewives know what's cooking.

The recipes would be sent to the 4000 local Republican women's clubs, which have a total of 500,000 members. In each one of these local clubs there would be a kind of local Mme. Sec. for each department. Together they would make 4000 local Kitchen Kabinets if everybody joined the fun.

Through these local Kitchen Kabinets, by word of mouth, over the telephone or at tea parties, the news would be spread around on the accomplishments of the Republican administration in Washington. You can imagine a sample conversation:

MRS. SMITH—"YOU KNOW, DEAR, I just got the grandest new monthly recipe from Mme. Attorney General in Washington today. Yes. She told me that Congress had just passed H.R. 4426, to amend the act of 1922 relating to installation of telephones in certain private residences for Federal use. How DO you suppose the government got along without that before?"

Mrs. Brown—"Do tell."

There was some consideration at first about asking the actual wives of the real Cabinet members to take these Kitchen Kabinet jobs. They'd certainly know their husband's business better than he would, anyway.

But in the end it was decided to ask the real Cabinet wives to serve only as advisers or consultants to the Kitchen Kabinet ladies.

None of these Kitchen Kabineteers has been named as yet. It may be a month or more before they're announced. And they probably won't start sending out their recipes on what's cooking in Washington till next fall.

Can you wait?

The Mosque That Was Built By a Skull

The Mosque of the Skull, The Ferhadiya Mosque in Banjaluka, Yugoslavia was built with money obtained as ransom for a skull. The skull was that of the Austrian General von Auersperg who was slain in a battle against the Turks on Sept. 22, 1575. His head was cut off and sent to Instanbul as a trophy. The general's family paid $20,000 to have the head returned for Christian burial and it is with this money that the victor, the Turkish general Ferhad Bey built the mosque which bears his name to the present day.

New Pipe Line Across Spain Considered Logical Move for United States

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Madrid, May 6—Construction is to begin this month on a pipeline nearly 500 miles long to carry fuel from an Atlantic port on the coast of Spain to three big air bases far inland. All the plans have been made and the workers have been assembled for what is perhaps the most spectacular project in the American defense program inside Spain.

Starting at Cadiz, which is a few miles from Gibraltar, and running to Seville and then to a point near Madrid and finally across country to Saragossa, this modern means of transportation has been found necessary because of the meager facilities by rail and highway. It will take 435 calendar days to complete the job, and the line should be functioning in the latter half of 1956.

The government of Spain has given every cooperation to the American and Spanish contractors who have joined together to build the line, which will cost a little less than $5,000,000 for labor and an equal sum for materials. Bids were taken from various contractors, and the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder. A Spanish company, as is required by regulation here, participates with a minority interest and virtually all the employes are Spanish. The wages paid are those that prevail in Spain and American contractors scrupulously comply with all the requirements for payment of holidays, including Sundays, and for social security compensation. While the wage rate, as set by the unions in cooperation with the government, is not high, relatively speaking, it is to be noted that the price level for living costs is not high here, either.

The entire construction is under the auspices of the United States Navy, which functions as a part of the joint military mission headed by Gen. August Kissner, of the United States Air Forces. The pipeline crosses two mountain ranges, one in the south and one in the north, and will be placed three feet under ground. It can be repaired quickly if there is any sabotage, though it is expected that local guards will be sufficiently vigilant to prevent damage. The line will supply not only the fuel requirement of the American Air Force and Navy but also those of the Spanish military forces. It is a godsend to Spain.

This is only a part of the overall program in Spain where a total of about $300,000,000 will be spent over the next four years in the defense project instituted by the United States with the co-operation of the Spanish authorities. In addition to this, there are some small appropriations for economic aid, so that the total spent by the United States in Spain over a four-year period may be around $500,000,000. This is, however, the smallest sum spent in any European country which plays a major part in the Allied defense plans.

Thus, latest figures from the United States Department of Commerce show that Britain has received in economic aid alone nearly $7,000,000,000 and France $5,200,000,000, West Germany $3,800,000,000, Italy $2,700,000,000, Greece $1,300,000,000, and the Netherlands $1,100,000,000. Even Russia, between the end of the war and 1947, got $426,000,000, and all of Eastern Europe about $1,100,000,000. But Spain, for unexplained reasons, has been neglected and only now are officials in Washington awakening to the strategic importance of this country.

It would take so little, relatively speaking, to bolster the Spanish economy and strengthen the whole country to assure effective military cooperation with the United States that it is unfortunate the Iberian peninsula as a whole has not come in for more attention in the past. For, with the American Navy assuming the biggest responsibility in the Mediterranean and the American Air Force using the new bases here as an operational front that can send planes into the heartland of Europe, it is nothing less than a tragedy that so much time already has been lost.

When France was defeated in 1940 and American air power came into the war in 1941, the only bases available were those in Britain. The war might have been shortened if the United States Strategic Air Force could have had bases like those it is building today in Spain. If, moreover, the political situation inside Britain should some day produce a restraint against our use of bases there for atomic warfare, the Spanish bases will provide an invaluable alternative. America's defense investment in Spain, therefore, is as logical as it is farsighted.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Myron and Sylvia Delaney had a terrible scrap about Venice. They went to a party for $50 a plate where they were giving a medal to Pietro Savon, some noted Italian movie director, for his services to brotherhood in the world-wide fight against communism and it might be that Sylvia got a little bit loaded on that wine and stuff, but on the way home she said: "Gee, I would give anything to go to Venice, why don't you take me to Venice."

Myron said, "Why do you want to go to Venice?"

She said, "because it is so romantic."

He said, "so is Council Bluffs. A lot of people got in love and got married and had a lot of kids in Council Bluffs."

She said, "Oh, don't put on that homespun American deal, we are not getting any younger and you have got plenty of dough now with those government checks for the hay and the depreciation and all that stuff. A girl gets tired of the same old faces, the same places all the time. I want to live."

He said, "You are living, aren't you? You never had it so good."

Sylvia said, "Oh, don't be so sarcastic, why don't you take me to Venice? I want to ride in a gondola with a guy singing 'Santa Lucia.'"

Myron said, "Venice is out. Nothing doing. You can ride in a gondola at Riverside Park—25c a trip."

They did not say anything more for a few blocks and then he said, "I will buy you all the spaghetti and Italian steam clams you can hold right here at the Vesuvius Restaurant. Tony Caruso is the best chef in the world for Italian food. He was born in Italy, learned the game from his father."

She said, "Oh, but that isn't the same. I want to see the pigeons at St. Mark's."

He said, "I didn't know you were such a pigeon fan but okay, I will buy a crate of pigeons and ten pounds of scratch but that Marx was a lousy Red and I am not going across any ocean 3,00. miles to feed any pigeons."

She said, "Oh that is a terrible thing to say, calling St. Mark a lousy Red, God will punish you, you just see."

He said, "You said 'Marx,' and I say the bum was a lousy Red, and he was, too, the bum."

They got that straightened out. Myron might have had a little bundle on himself, so maybe he did think she said "Marx" instead of "Saint Mark's."

He said, "You don't have to go to Italy to get away from the same old faces. Have you ever been to Gary? You would not know a soul in Gary. I will take you to Gary, Indiana, on beautiful Lake Michigan, where we will be absolutely among strangers just like in Venice and it won't cost any $3,000 each, either. We can get the best suite in that hotel there, I forget the name of it—a three-story, red brick deal. I was there once trying to see a guy, and you can get two good-size bedrooms with a parlor in between, prabably wtih a television. I will call up the flower store and keep the parlor filled with roses till you sneeze your head off, but Venice is out. Absolutely nothing doing on that Venice proposition."

Sylvia said well just the same when a girl has been married that long to a guy the least the bum could do was to take her for a trip to Venice for a ride in a gondola. I just love Santa Lucia. He said, heck, he could sing it right now. Right here in the good old U.S.A. Probably better than some dumb gondolier, because Myron was on the glee club at De Pauw and they used Santa Lucia for the encore wham-sock. So he opened his trap and began to holler Santa Lucia like crazy. They came to a light and a cop walked over and asked is everything under control? Myron said sure, he was just singing like a gondolier. The cop said well tone it down, people are trying to sleep around here.

Sylvia kept pestering all the way home, Venice, Venice, Venice, pigeons, Santa Lucia, Saint Mark's and a rest from the same old familiar faces, the same old gags at the same old parties, some time a girl has got to get away from it all.

He said well, then she would not want him along with his old familiar face. He said, "if it comes to that, that pan of yours is getting no younger and it certainly is familiar, why don't you take it to Venice and I will go to Gary and look up a new face for myself."

It is the darnedest thing the way those kind of deals grow into fights. Now Sylvia keeps sniffing about some babe in Gary, Indiana. It is mighty funny how all of a sudden he is so crazy about Gary. Who ever heard of going to Gary, Indiana, instead of Venice, Italy? The way he has been acting lately, she kind of suspected something suspicious.

Myron says he has not been in Gary, Indiana, for 15 years, he just gets darn good and tired of people tearing off to those European places, you can't understand their language. What about Evansville? They have got a big river and rowboats and you can take a record-player and play Santa Lucia till it makes you sick. And if some dumb waiter sticks his thumb in your soup you do not exclaim how picturesque and quaint. You holler "hey, you dumb Hoosier, get your thumb out of my soup."

Or what about Wheeling? Or what about beautiful St. Louis in the summer? And if you want pigeons, the courthouse is the place. Pigeons as big as buzzards.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

The defenders of Mr. Roosevelt's Yalta agreement unite on one point — that it would have been hunky-dory "if Stalin had only kept his promises."

What right had anyone to think Stalin would keep any promise he might decide it was profitable for him to break? Long before Yalta, Old Joe had overrun Finland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and had joined Hitler in carving up Poland, — all in violation of treaties with those countries. Roosevelt had especially condemned his rape of Poland.

Mr. Hutton

But more immediately pertinent to Yalta, and a point no one has mentioned in the current discussion, is that Russia and Japan had made a treaty of mutual non-aggression on April 13, 1941, to run for five years to 1946.

Under this treaty, during 1943-4, Stalin had refused the United States the use of Siberian bases in our war against Japan. But at Yalta, in February, 1945. Roosevelt paid Stalin's price to violate his treaty with Japan which still had more than a year to run.

So here we have the remarkable plea that Roosevelt had the right to believe that he could place complete confidnce in Old Joe to keep his Yalta agreement about "free elections," etc., in Poland, when the very basis of Yalta was that Joe would break his treaty with Japan, which Mr. Roosevelt bribed him to do!

This, neighbor, seems to call for a sermon or two on "the sanctity of treaties" and the gullibility of men.

To Help in Subway

New York, May 6 (AP)—To help subway riders find their way underground, the Transit Authority is experimenting with a push-button "electronic wayfinder" with the idea of installing one in each of the city's 509 subway stations. The setup consists of a large map of the city with strings of lights marking the routes of the three subway systems. Alongside the map are buttons for hotels, museums and other points of interest. The rider pushes a button next to his destination and a chain of lights indicates the route to be taken.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This writer has received a number of most interesting communications lately. I had suggested to some of my numerous correspondents and subscribers that it would be helpful if they would give me any thoughts they might have on the contrary approach to current problem.

There is one point which apparently needs emphasis, when we are discussing the theory of contrary opinion; namely, that contrary action, as well as an opinion, is requisite. Moreover, in judging mass opinions, we have to consider not only what the "crowd" is thinking about (its opinions), but what people are doing. People often think one way and "do" another.

AS AN EXAMPLE to this latter thought, no doubt great numbers of people have an idea that the automobile business, for instance, is booming out of proportion to normal demands; and that too much business is being done "on the cuff." Nevertheless, the same people may recognize the "over-doing and over-borrowing" are among those whe are borrowing-and-buying. Thus you need to consider what the crowd is doing, regardless of what they may be thinking.

Now let me return to the other thought—that a contrarian needs to act as well to have contrary opinions.

Ever since the end of last year the Ruminator has believed that the year 1955 was a year during which prudent and conservative people would "put their houses in order." The time to plan for the future is when it is convenient and relatively easy to plan. During a boom, such as we are now experiencing, one can shift around and arrange for the future in a way that is impossible during a slump.

Let me put it this way:

First, it is my contrary conviction that this is a year during which one should plan for a possible slump to come. No one can tell you when a slump may occur, but at least we know that in the business cycle the "boom phase" is the top of the cycle. If the business cycle is to continue to revolve as it has through the past decades then following a boom there is a down-turn. In consequence, it would seem quite logical and "common-sensical" to think of what's to come, rather than to ride the merry-go-round without giving heed to how you're going to get off.

SOME MAY ASK: Why not ride until the music stops and not worry about how you're going to get off?

That is, of course, what the "crowd" does do. It waits until the machine goes into reverse. The trouble with this is that when the crowd then tries to get off everybody is so dizzy from the sudden switch that they don't know which way to turn.

Surely, it is more prudent and leads to greater contentment if one gets off "ahead of time" instead of too late.

In any event, the foregoing is the contrary approach to the present. Next, we have to consider how one acts contrarily.

Second, therefore, it is this writer's belief that in a fast-tempo boom one should think of two main objectives:

(a) Reserves against a possible bust or slump, and

(b) Hedges against possible war, deflation, and inflation.

In this manner, your thinking runs along the path of strengthening your personal affairs in order to withstand the unexpected and the unknown.

The question of "reserves" does not require much discussion. It merely means the old axiom of laying something aside for the rainy days. It means, obviously, to reduce debts, time payments, and such commitments that would be difficult to cope with if something untoward were to occur. A boom period is made to order for building reserves and lightening or cleaning up commitments which would be burdensome if a slump were to develop.

QUITE PLAINLY, the matter of "hedges" is something far more difficult to discuss in a column of this sort. What it means is to put surplus funds (funds over and above those salted away in "reserves") in those "things" or investments which one feels would not suffer too greatly from deflation, war, or a sudden inflation. Just as an example, gold and uranium are possible hedges against the "unknown." But the last thing one should do would be to play around with the penny uranium shares which are being peddled today. Your banker or broker or advisor can tell you of SOUND American companies, having gold and uranium properties of known productive capacities. Let me repeat, that the "penny uranium shares" being peddled about are hazardous gambles; no doubt many of these mines will never produce uranium profitably.

Real estate and farm lands are not practicable hedges if you think that a deflation may set in sometime over coming months. In inflationary periods, real estate is a good hedge, and as you know prices have risen over recent inflationary years.

Ii conclusion, it might be added that there is no sure hedge against either deflation or inflation. That is why "reserves" come first. Or, perhaps, I should say that putting one's commitments in order comes first, following which reserves should be set up. (By reserves I naturally refer to savings accounts, government bonds, life insurance and so on).

Punch-line to the year's hottest power story—

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stop-watches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR* stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry (that means less piston travel...longer engine life)! And it delivers the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-priced field. It's so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five... needs less radiator coolant, too. It's the most modern V8 under anybody's hood!

It puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe!

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

The defenders of Mr. Roosevelt's Yalta agreement unite on one point — that it would have been hunky-dory "if Stalin had only kept his promises."

What right had anyone to think Stalin would keep any promise he might decide it was profitable for him to break? Long before Yalta, Old Joe had overrun Finland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and had joined Hitler in carving up Poland, — all in violation of treaties with those countries. Roosevelt had especially condemned his rape of Poland.

Mr. Hutton

But more immediately pertinent to Yalta, and a point no one has mentioned in the current discussion, is that Russia and Japan had made a treaty of mutual non-aggression on April 13, 1941, to run for five years to 1946.

Under this treaty, during 1943-4, Stalin had refused the United States the use of Siberian bases in our war against Japan. But at Yalta, in February, 1945, Roosevelt paid Stalin's price to violate his treaty with Japan which still had more than a year to run.

So here we have the remarkable plea that Roosevelt had the right to believe that he could place complete confidnce in Old Joe to keep his Yalta agreement about "free elections," etc., in Poland, when the very basis of Yalta was that Joe would break his treaty with Japan, which Mr. Roosevelt bribed him to do!

This, neighbor, seems to call for a sermon or two on "the sanctity of treaties" and the gullibility of men.

Has Freak Bill

New York, May 6 (AP)—Mrs. Hannah H. O'Connor is busy turning down offers of up to $100 for a freak bill she found recently in her pay envelope. The bill is marked $10 on one side and $1 on the other. The U. S. Bureau of Engraving commented yesterday that it was a mistake that happens maybe once in 150 million times.

Area Youths Enlist In U. S. Air Force

Four Ulster county youths, including three from the city of Kingston, recently enlisted in the U. S. Air Force, it was announced today by T/Sgt. John J. Norton, Jr., non-commissioned officer in charge of the local Air Force Recruiting Station, 259 Fair street.

They are Frank M. Jones, Jr., of Allaben, who reenlisted after recently returning from England where he served for three years, now stationed at Otis Air Force Base, Falmouth, Mass.; Robert G. Leonard, nephew of Mrs. Carrie Miller, 60 Van Deusen street; Christakis Ayiotis, of 37 Franklin street, and Robert F. Carey, son of Mrs. Cora Carey, 58 Murray street.

The three Kingston youths are now stationed at Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, where they will undergo 11 weeks of basic training and receive their initial air force indoctrination.

To Help in Subway

New York, May 6 (AP)—To help subway riders find their way underground, the Transit Authority is experimenting with a push-button "electronic wayfinder" with the idea of installing one in each of the city's 509 subway stations. The setup consists of a large map of the city with strings of lights marking the routes of the three subway systems. Alongside the map are buttons for hotels, museums and other points of interest. The rider pushes a button next to his destination and a chain of lights indicates the route to be taken.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This writer has received a number of most interesting communications lately. I had suggested to some of my numerous correspondents and subscribers that it would be helpful if they would give me any thoughts they might have on the contrary approach to current problem.

There is one point which apparently needs emphasis, when we are discussing the theory of contrary opinion; namely, that contrary action, as well as an opinion, is requisite. Moreover, in judging mass opinions, we have to consider not only what the "crowd" is thinking about (its opinions), but what people are doing. People often think one way and "do" another.

AS AN EXAMPLE to this latter thought, no doubt great numbers of people have an idea that the automobile business, for instance, is booming out of proportion to normal demands; and that too much business is being done "on the cuff." Nevertheless, the same people may recognize the "over-doing and over-borrowing" are among those whe are borrowing-and-buying. Thus you need to consider what the crowd is doing, regardless of what they may be thinking.

Now let me return to the other thought—that a contrarian needs to act as well to have contrary opinions.

Ever since the end of last year the Ruminator has believed that the year 1955 was a year during which prudent and conservative people would "put their houses in order." The time to plan for the future is when it is convenient and relatively easy to plan. During a boom, such as we are now experiencing, one can shift around and arrange for the future in a way that is impossible during a slump.

Let me put it this way:

First, it is my contrary conviction that this is a year during which one should plan for a possible slump to come. No one can tell you when a slump may occur, but at least we know that in the business cycle the "boom phase" is the top of the cycle. If the business cycle is to continue to revolve as it has through the past decades then following a boom there is a down-turn. In consequence, it would seem quite logical and "common-sensical" to think of what's to come, rather than to ride the merry-go-round without giving heed to how you're going to get off.

SOME MAY ASK: Why not ride until the music stops and not worry about how you're going to get off?

That is, of course, what the "crowd" does do. It waits until the machine goes into reverse. The trouble with this is that when the crowd then tries to get off everybody is so dizzy from the sudden switch that they don't know which way to turn.

Surely, it is more prudent and leads to greater contentment if one gets off "ahead of time" instead of too late.

In any event, the foregoing is the contrary approach to the present. Next, we have to consider how one acts contrarily.

Second, therefore, it is this writer's belief that in a fast-tempo boom one should think of two main objectives:

(a) Reserves against a possible bust or slump, and

(b) Hedges against possible war, deflation, and inflation.

In this manner, your thinking runs along the path of strengthening your personal affairs in order to withstand the unexpected and the unknown.

The question of "reserves" does not require much discussion. It merely means the old axiom of laying something aside for the rainy days. It means, obviously, to reduce debts, time payments, and such commitments that would be difficult to cope with if something untoward were to occur. A boom period is made to order for building reserves and lightening or cleaning up commitments which would be burdensome if a slump were to develop.

QUITE PLAINLY, the matter of "hedges" is something far more difficult to discuss in a column of this sort. What it means is to put surplus funds (funds over and above those salted away in "reserves") in those "things" or investments which one feels would not suffer too greatly from deflation, war, or a sudden inflation. Just as an example, gold and uranium are possible hedges against the "unknown." But the last thing one should do would be to play around with the penny uranium shares which are being peddled today. Your banker or broker or advisor can tell you of SOUND American companies, having gold and uranium properties of known productive capacities. Let me repeat, that the "penny uranium shares" being peddled about are hazardous gambles; no doubt many of these mines will never produce uranium profitably.

Real estate and farm lands are not practicable hedges if you think that a deflation may set in sometime over coming months. In inflationary periods, real estate is a good hedge, and as you know prices have risen over recent inflationary years.

The actual outlay last year was over 37 billions. Building of private residences showed the greatest dollar gain in the first four months of this year compared with 1954. However, building activity was at a new peak also for commercial buildings, schools, churches, sewer and water facilities, public utilities and highways.

Wallkill, May 6—Ralph H. Johnson, former superintendent of School District No. 2, who retired last month after 39 years of service, was honored with Mrs. Johnson at an informal tea recently held at the Wallkill Central School library by the Wallkill Teachers' Association, which consists of over 50 teachers and three principals.

This group with the teaching staff and principals of New Paltz, Marlborough and Highland schools, known as the Ulster Educators and comprising Mr. Johnson's supervisory district for 16 years, also joined in feting him at a banquet held at the Rhoda Arms on Route 9W just prior to his retirement.

Preceding the evening's program of entertainment which followed the dinner Mr. Johnson was presented with a farewell check by the organization. In his remarks that evening Johnson paid grateful tribute to his 200 fellow teachers and colleagues and to his wife and his aunt to whom he felt especially indebted for his long successful career.

Construction Booms

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The government said today that construction in April boomed to a new high for the month of 3¼ billion dollars. Construction in the first four months of the year also set a record, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported, and construction expenditures in April rose to an unprecedented annual rate of over 41½ billion dollars, considering seasonal factors. The actual outlay last year was over 37 billions. Building of private residences showed the greatest dollar gain in the first four months of this year compared with 1954. However, building activity was at a new peak also for commercial buildings, schools, churches, sewer and water facilities, public utilities and highways.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

Temporarily, Ted Mack has abandoned the amateurs. For seven years, the genial MC introduced the tap dancers, accordionists and rookie sopranos. Now, he's got his own show—"The Ted Mack Matinee'"—over NBC-TV.

"The Amateur Hour had such a tight formula," Ted says, "that I had no chance to express my personality. This new program will give me a chance to cavort a little. Of course, I don't know if I want to cavort, but I can if I want to."

What will the new show be like, when it finally shakes down? Well, it'll be a little bit of many phases of Mack. And it may come as a surprise to you to know that Mack has many phases.

"People only remember the Amateur Hour," he says. "They forget that before that I was a comedian, a theatre MC, an orchestra leader and a pretty good jazz clarinetist."

There are negotiations to bring the Amateur Hour back. Which would make Ted a busy boy. But, even if he doesn't, he'll be happy. Cavorting.

A FEW FAST FACTS: NBC trying to persuade former President Herbert Hoover to appear on one of their "elder wise men" films. . . . Bill Cullen has an early morning radio show in New York. Since he's unused to such early rising, he has a friend wake him up via the telephone. The friend? Dave Garroway. . . . Nanette Fabray is one of the phenomenons of the TV season. Sid Caesar's co-star is both a child and a grown woman—she's in many of the Our Gang comedies now being released as "Clubhouse Gang Comedies." . . . Walter Slezak of "Fanny" writes articles in serious music magazines under the byline, "Walter Kazels."

By the hair on his chinny-chin-chin, Bill Johnson thinks his voice is getting better all the time. So is the hair on his chinny-chin-chin.

A few words of explanation are necessary at this point. Bill Johnson is the large and handsome baritone who succeeded Alfred Drake in "Kismet," and will take the colorful musical on the road. He wears a beard (authentic Johnson whiskers) for his part. And he likes it.

Win Min Than, the Burmese beauty who is in the movie, "The Purple Plain," with Gregory Peck, brought her three step-children to New York. She made them this promise: if the first person they spoke to in New York knew who "Howdy-Doody" was she'd take them to see and meet the famous puppet.

The first person they spoke to did; she did, too.

Expert Shows How To Come Through

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

An amusing hand comes to mind whenever I think about the Goldman Cup pair championship that Alfred Sheinwold and I won recently when the Eastern States Tournament was held in New York. When the bidding ended, and I had to put the North hand down as the dummy, I was ready to trade Sheinwold in for a stick of used chewing gum and some old bottles. (I should admit that I have since changed my mind.)

East's opening bid of three diamonds was a typical shutout bid. In fact, East would have made the same bid without the king of clubs, considering the favorable vulnerability. West knew that his partner had a bad hand, but he still wanted to get to a game. His exploratory bid of three spades, as everybody at the table knew, was forcing for one round.

Under these circumstances, my double of three spades was a business double. If I had held a very strong two-suiter in the two unbid suits I would have made a cue-bid of four diamonds to demand a takeout. I wasn't actually sure of beating three spades (I wouldn't have, in fact), but I wanted to indicate a favorable opening lead.

The rest of the bidding was a nightmare to me. My partner took the bit in his teeth, apparently misunderstanding the meaning of my double. West was delighted to double, and I resigned myself to a bottom on the board.

As it happened, Sheinwold had a freak hand. He had understood the double but was still willing to suggest a slam on his way to four hearts. For all he knew, I could have had a far better hand for my double; and in that case a slam in hearts or clubs was quite possible.

There was no problem in making four hearts. Declarer had to lose a heart, a diamond, and a club, but nothing else.

Temporarily, Ted Mack has abandoned the amateurs. For seven years, the genial MC introduced the tap dancers, accordionists and rookie sopranos. Now, he's got his own show—"The Ted Mack Matinee"—over NBC-TV.

"The Amateur Hour had such a tight formula," Ted says, "that I had no chance to express my personality. This new program will give me a chance to cavort a little. Of course, I don't know if I want to cavort, but I can if I want to."

What will the new show be like, when it finally shakes down? Well, it'll be a little bit of many phases of Mack. And it may come as a surprise to you to know that Mack has many phases.

"People only remember the Amateur Hour," he says. "They forget that before that I was a comedian, a theatre MC, an orchestra leader and a pretty good jazz clarinetist."

There are negotiations to bring the Amateur Hour back. Which would make Ted a busy boy. But, even if he doesn't, he'll be happy. Cavorting.

A FEW FAST FACTS: NBC trying to persuade former President Herbert Hoover to appear on one of their "elder wise men" films. . . . Bill Cullen has an early morning radio show in New York. Since he's unused to such early rising, he has a friend wake him up via the telephone. The friend? Dave Garroway. . . . Nanette Fabray is one of the phenomenons of the TV season. Sid Caesar's co-star is both a child and a grown woman—she's in many of the Our Gang comedies now being released as "Clubhouse Gang Comedies." . . . Walter Slezak of "Fanny" writes articles in serious music magazines under the byline, "Walter Kazels."

By the hair on his chinny-chin-chin, Bill Johnson thinks his voice is getting better all the time. So is the hair on his chinny-chin-chin.

A few words of explanation are necessary at this point. Bill Johnson is the large and handsome baritone who succeeded Alfred Drake in "Kismet," and will take the colorful musical on the road. He wears a beard (authentic Johnson whiskers) for his part. And he likes it.

Win Min Than, the Burmese beauty who is in the movie, "The Purple Plain," with Gregory Peck, brought her three stepchildren to New York. She made them this promise: if the first person they spoke to in New York knew who "Howdy-Doody" was she'd take them to see and meet the famous puppet.

The first person they spoke to did; she did, too.

Expert Shows How To Come Through

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

An amusing hand comes to mind whenever I think about the Goldman Cup pair championship that Alfred Sheinwold and I won recently when the Eastern States Tournament was held in New York. When the bidding ended, and I had to put the North hand down as the dummy, I was ready to trade Sheinwold in for a stick of used chewing gum and some old bottles. (I should admit that I have since changed my mind.)

East's opening bid of three diamonds was a typical shutout bid. In fact, East would have made the same bid without the king of clubs, considering the favorable vulnerability. West knew that his partner had a bad hand, but he still wanted to get to a game. His exploratory bid of three spades, as everybody at the table knew, was forcing for one round.

Under these circumstances, my double of three spades was a business double. If I had held a very strong two-suiter in the two unbid suits I would have made a cue-bid of four diamonds to demand a takeout. I wasn't actually sure of beating three spades (I wouldn't have, in fact), but I wanted to indicate a favorable opening lead.

The rest of the bidding was a nightmare to me. My partner took the bit in his teeth, apparently misunderstanding the meaning of my double. West was delighted to double, and I resigned myself to a bottom on the board.

As it happened, Sheinwold had a freak hand. He had understood the double but was still willing to suggest a slam on his way to four hearts. For all he knew, I could have had a far better hand for my double; and in that case a slam in hearts or clubs was quite possible.

There was no problem in making four hearts. Declarer had to lose a heart, a diamond, and a club, but nothing else.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., May 5—We have an enemy in this country eating away at us from within in a way that may be very destructive to our national well-being. That enemy is competition, which forces us to put an employe's loyalty to the business ahead of his loyalty to his family. When praising the "American Way" of free enterprise, let us not forget that it has serious dangers.

BIG BUSINESS is surely contributing to juvenile delinquency by the high priority it claims on a man's evenings and weekends. When father should be spending time with his wife and children he is entertaining customers or whittling down the paper work on his desk. He is a stranger in his own home. This almost hysterical pursuit of company business at any cost to family life is evidence of the decline in moral values that has hit too many business executives.

There are millions of sad homes across the land, homes where fathers have awakened with a jolt to find sons already grown up. Sons have gotten into serious difficulties because they never received the kind of guidance and discipline they needed from father. I recall a plaintive cry from a "corporation wife" which appeared in Fortune magazine a couple of years ago. She particularly condemned the type and amount of entertainment that she, as a corporation wife, was expected to offer to her husband's business associates. In this case, the corporation left little time for either parent to spend with the children.

IT IS A MISTAKE for companies not to allow sales managers to stay in any one place long enough to become part of their community. They must move every two or three years. Of course, the wives become irritable; children have a hard time in school; and husbands develop ulcers. Marriage and the family don't have a chance.

Graduates of colleges of business administration have been criticized in recent years for being unwilling to be away from home five nights a week for their dear old employer; but these graduates may be justified. The present generation of fathers and mothers of teenagers haven't a very good record. Perhaps the new crop of prospective fathers and mothers will do a better job!

A FATHER TELLS about the very good prep school to which he is sending his teen-agers. Says he, "Why I don't have to be bothered with the kids at all. This winter the school taught my boy how to ski and to skate. Saved me a lot of time and trouble!" School and college guidance offices are filled with recorders of young people who are emotionally unstable because their parents never played with them enough, never gave them the understanding and guidance they needed.

A friend recently stated that when he suggested a plan for fathers and sons to raise money together by planting and marketing certain garden crops, he was nearly booed out of the meeting. "Whoever heard of such a ridiculous idea? We're all too busy," was the reply. Don't blame the schools for all shortcomings of the younger generation!

How often have you heard a business executive say that he doesn't want his children to work as hard as he has had to? So he hands them out fat allowances, automobiles, expensive education, and perhaps even subsidies for marriage. This eases his conscience; he can say he has given his children everything — "everything," the children will tell you, except what they really wanted most—companionship.

SUCH PROLONGED wet-nursing can develop a generation of young people who are egocentric, emotionally immature, and who believe the world owes them a living. Who is to blame? I have a hunch that the pace business sets has something to do with the situation. In fact, when asked as to what will bring on the next depression, I forecast: "Employers, executives, wageworkers, and even consumers will some day get tired and just quit the struggle. Many parents are now reaching this stage."

The victim, Irving Hirsch, a realtor, of Kew Gardens, said the robber jumped into his car at 165th street as he stopped for a red light. WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., May 5—We have an enemy in this country eating away at us from within in a way that may be very destructive to our national well-being. That enemy is competition, which forces us to put an employe's loyalty to the business ahead of his loyalty to his family. When praising the "American Way" of free enterprise, let us not forget that it has serious dangers.

BIG BUSINESS is surely contributing to juvenile delinquency by the high priority it claims on a man's evenings and weekends. When father should be spending time with his wife and children he is entertaining customers or whittling down the paper work on his desk. He is a stranger in his own home. This almost hysterical pursuit of company business at any cost to family life is evidence of the decline in moral values that has hit too many business executives.

There are millions of sad homes across the land, homes where fathers have awakened with a jolt to find sons already grown up. Sons have gotten into serious difficulties because they never received the kind of guidance and discipline they needed from father. I recall a plaintive cry from a "corporation wife" which appeared in Fortune magazine a couple of years ago. She particularly condemned the type and amount of entertainment that she, as a corporation wife, was expected to offer to her husband's business associates. In this case, the corporation left little time for either parent to spend with the children.

IT IS A MISTAKE for companies not to allow sales managers to stay in any one place long enough to become part of their community. They must move every two or three years. Of course, the wives become irritable; children have a hard time in school; and husbands develop ulcers. Marriage and the family don't have a chance.

Graduates of colleges of business administration have been criticized in recent years for being unwilling to be away from home five nights a week for their dear old employer; but these graduates may be justified. The present generation of fathers and mothers of teenagers haven't a very good record. Perhaps the new crop of prospective fathers and mothers will do a better job!

A FATHER TELLS about the very good prep school to which he is sending his teen-agers. Says he, "Why I don't have to be bothered with the kids at all. This winter the school taught my boy how to ski and to skate. Saved me a lot of time and trouble!" School and college guidance offices are filled with recorders of young people who are emotionally unstable because their parents never played with them enough, never gave them the understanding and guidance they needed.

A friend recently stated that when he suggested a plan for fathers and sons to raise money together by planting and marketing certain garden crops, he was nearly booed out of the meeting. "Whoever heard of such a ridiculous idea? We're all too busy," was the reply. Don't blame the schools for all shortcomings of the younger generation!

How often have you heard a business executive say that he doesn't want his children to work as hard as he has had to? So he hands them out fat allowances, automobiles, expensive education, and perhaps even subsidies for marriage. This eases his conscience; he can say he has given his children everything — "everything," the children will tell you, except what they really wanted most—companionship.

SUCH PROLONGED wetnursing can develop a generation of young people who are egocentric, emotionally immature, and who believe the world owes them a living. Who is to blame? I have a hunch that the pace business sets has something to do with the situation. In fact, when asked as to what will bring on the next depression, I forecast: "Employers, executives, wageworkers, and even consumers will some day get tired and just quit the struggle. Many parents are now reaching this stage."

Jewish Appeal Is Reported Doing Well in Kingston

AARON E. KLEIN

Aaron E. Klein, chairman of general solicitation for the 1955 United Jewish Appeal, has asked all captains and workers to complete their assignments as soon as possible and render reports and submit collections at the Jewish Community Center office nightly Monday through Thursday.

Mr. Klein, local attorney and businessman, also noted the captain's meeting scheduled Monday, May 9, at 8 p. m., at the Center building. The captains for the drive are: John Levy, Sid Halpern, Herb Gertner, Philip and Miriam Posner, Abe Rosenthal, Florence Klein, Seymour Werbalowsky, Ruth Krosner, Rae Weiner Arthur Moak, Ray Klein, Bernard Abelove, Warren Sussin, Dr. David Kline and Dorothy Spiegel.

In a joint statement, Mr. Klein and Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman of the drive, said today that the campaign thus far has produced results which give promise of exceeding last year's pledges. They said the workers' enthusiasm was at the highest in years, and response to the solicitations has been particularly gratifying. In fact, Mr. Klein and Mr. Rafalowsky pointed out, that in many cases, contributions have been substantially increased.

HOW LONG SHOULD HE HAVE WAITED?

A man tells me: "I'm in the dog house and am hoping you can get me out. Last week my best girl and I were invited to dinner at the house of a young married couple—mutual friends of ours. As we both work at opposite ends of town I was to meet her at a certain place at a certain time and we would then go to dinner together. I waited a good half hour and there was no sign of her. As it was approaching the dinner hour I went ahead, thinking perhaps she had misunderstood about our meeting place and went directly to the house. When I arrived she was not there but came in about 15 minutes later very much perturbed at me for not having waited for her. (She was unexpectedly delayed at the office). She claims that I should have waited for her at the appointed place until she arrived. Perhaps if I can show her in writing that I was correct in going ahead, she will forgive me."

If waiting longer would have made you late for dinner, I think you were quite right to consider your hostess' food and to have supposed your friend had forgotten you were not meeting at the house of your hostess.

Parlor vs. Living Room

Dear Mrs. Post: I have always called the room in which we receive company, the "parlor." My daughter teases me about this and says that parlor is very old-fashioned and that most people today say "living room". I would very much like your opinion on this.

Answer: The real parlor of yesterday was a very formal room with stiff, straight-back chairs requiring formal manners by the hostess and guests, and is very rare in the modern generation. Today's company is received in the living room.

Eating Fried Egg

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to eat a fried egg? I am referring to the soft yolk which is almost impossible to eat with a fork without it dripping through the tines.

Answer: If it is as soft as that, you will have to break up small pieces of bread (or toast) and drop it into the yolk of the egg.

Many people put off letter writing because they do not know how to express their thoughts. You will find booklet No. 502, "Etiquette of Writing," helpful. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Happy Roe's Around

Buffalo, May 6 (AP)—George T. McGowan, district director of the Internal Revenue Service here, is again a happy man. For years McGowan had been receiving tax payments signed "Richard T. Roe." This year one did not arrive. McGowan said he feared "Roe" had departed this taxed world. But yesterday, from Florida, McGowan got two boxes. One contained a towel and a cigar. The other two shells. These, said an accompanying note, were from Richard T. Roe. The shells were his payment this year—the towel for crying. McGowan says he's happy to hear his friend is still among the present but he adds that he hopes Roe had filed his taxes this year—"After all if he can go to Florida he can pay his taxes," says McGowan.

Happy Roe's Around

Buffalo, May 6 (AP)—George T. McGowan, district director of the Internal Revenue Service here, is again a happy man. For years McGowan had been receiving tax payments signed "Richard T. Roe." This year one did not arrive. McGowan said he feared "Roe" had departed this taxed world. But yesterday, from Florida, McGowan got two boxes. One contained a towel and a cigar. The other two shells. These, said an accompanying note, were from Richard T. Roe. The shells were his payment this year—the towel for crying. McGowan says he's happy to hear his friend is still among the present but he adds that he hopes Roe had filed his taxes this year—"After all if he can go to Florida he can pay his taxes," says McGowan.

Her body was found by a bellboy on the sidewalk in front of the hotel, 29 E. 29th street.

Vaccine for Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., May 6 (AP)—Government-approved Salk polio vaccine—enough to inoculate 115,560 school children—arrived in Connecticut last night, and state health officials planned to distribute it among eight counties today. Actual inoculations in the state's 945 grammar schools are expected to start next week—possibly Monday in some towns.

Poughkeepsie High was all by itself at the top of the DUSO baseball heap today, following a 5-4 squeaker over Kingston High in a game at Poughkeepsie yesterday in which the Maroons outhit the Blues, 8-3.

In other DUSO action, Newburgh Academy bounced back from its stunning loss to the Blues to rout Port Jervis, 13 to 1.

THE BLUES USED strict economy and two key triples to spoil a superb hurling chore by Bob Maines and Rennie Giannuzzi. The latter succeeded Maines in the fifth and faced a minimum of six batters while fanning four in the last two innings.

Maines collected a double and single in two trips to make his season's record 8 hits in 11 trips.

The boxscore:

Poughkeepsie scored quickly in the first when G. Boyer walked with one out and Versace tripled. Monty Stickles' long fly to center chased Versace across.

BIG BOB Shelightner delivered a rousing solo homer for Kingston and Maines doubled Joe Hoffman home for another tally.

Frank Turck and Rennie Giannuzzi sandwiched singles between a strikeout in the seventh and Ronnie Ashdown drove in the fourth run with a sharp single. Joey Hoffman made a bid to put Kingston back in the ball game with a long smash to left where Andrews made a nice running catch to snuff out the threat.

Maines fanned three and walked two, giving up the three hits and five Poughkeepsie tallies. Washburn's triple up the left center field alley scored two runners in the fourth and he scored what proved to be the winning run on Nelson's long fly to left.

Bill Wazelewski and Alan Smith shared the Blues pitching chores and had six strikeouts between them. Maines fanned three and Giannuzzi four.

Rumors persist that the IBM golf course will locate in the tract of land purchased by Mr. Purdy in the area commonly known as north Flatbush.

This is sheer speculation, of course, but the report gains credence because of Purdy's close association with Robert Trent Jones, the master golf architect.

Furthermore, that particular region is readily adaptable to golf, with rolling ground, trees, beautiful landscape and luxurious natural fairways. It is bound by the Hudson river on the east and Route 32 on the west and is easily accessible from two directions.

Do we sound like we have already started to build the course for IBM? Don't worry about it, if and when an announcement is made, it won't happen until IBM is ready.

• The Nineteenth Green:

Speaking of that Flatbush land, you have also heard, of course, that it might be used for a harness track. Well, that would save a lot of guys we know a long trip to Florida every winter. . . . Boyer Gonzales, the several times Woodstock Country Club champion, expects to return from the University of Washington (Seattle) to spend July and August at his summer residence in Woodstock. Boyer has played golf only once since reporting for his new job last fall and bagged a hole-in-one during the round. . . . Mrs. Hugh R. Elwyn and Mrs. Charles P. Vogel, co-chairmen of the Twaalfskill women's golf committee, planning gala kickoff party with refreshments and golf picture Tuesday night (May 10) at th clubhouse. . . . First Ladies' Day also scheduled next week. . . . Dubby Raichle has lined up inter-club matches with Shawangunk and Woodstock for the mid-town linksmen.

• Sullivan: Land of Many Links:

Robert Trent Jones, who is building Wiltwyck, stopped over for a 90-minute visit with club president, Arthur A. Davis, Tuesday. Jones has been zipping between Florida, New York city and San Francisco where he is toughening up the Olympia layout for the U. S. Open in June. . . . Best guess on Wiltwyck is that nine holes will be ready in five weeks, the entire 18 holes within 10 weeks.

By late summer Wiltwyck will start taking its place with the great golf courses in the eastern part of the country. In 1956 it reaches its zenith with the completion of the new clubhouse.

The rebuilding program at Wiltwyck emphasizes how far Ulster has been behind Dutchess and Sullivan in the matter of golf courses.

There are more than 21 golf courses in Sullivan county surrounded by such scenic beauty that the only complaint may well be from golfers who are too enthralled with the surroundings to play well.

Golf is by no means new to Sullivan county. The first course was built there in 1927 by the world famed golf course architect, A. W. Tellinghast at Grossinger's. Tellinghast is the man Robert Trent Jones succeeded as the No. 1 man in the business. Grossinger's is one of two championship courses in the area, the other being the multi-million dollar Concord International at Kiamesha Lake. This is the fabulous layout that numbers Jack Redmond, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke and Jimmy Demaret on its pro staff.

Joe Turnesa, of the five famous Turnesa brothers, heads the Grossinger staff which also numbers Al Besselink, Dave Douglas and others.

The Concord International's 13th hole has been called one of the most unusual in the country. Here you drive off from a cliff, with a brook-carry, then it dog-legs down a tree screened fairway to a giant trap flanked green on a plateau. Alternate tees, at the foot of the cliff and at brookside help to reduce nerve strain for the more conservative golfers.

Poughkeepsie High was all by itself at the top of the DUSO baseball heap today, following a 5-4 squeaker over Kingston High in a game at Poughkeepsie yesterday in which the Maroons outhit the Blues, 8-3.

In other DUSO action, Newburgh Academy bounced back from its stunning loss to the Blues to rout Port Jervis, 13 to 1.

THE BLUES USED strict economy and two key triples to spoil a superb hurling chore by Bob Maines and Rennie Giannuzzi. The latter succeeded Maines in the fifth and faced a minimum of six batters while fanning four in the last two innings.

Maines collected a double and single in two trips to make his season's record 8 hits in 11 trips.

The boxscore:

BIG BOB Shelightner delivered a rousing solo homer for Kingston and Maines doubled Joe Hoffman home for another tally.

Frank Turck and Rennie Giannuzzi sandwiched singles between a strikeout in the seventh and Ronnie Ashdown drove in the fourth run with a sharp single. Joey Hoffman made a bid to put Kingston back in the ball game with a long smash to left where Andrews made a nice running catch to snuff out the threat.

Maines fanned three and walked two, giving up the three hits and five Poughkeepsie tallies. Washburn's triple up the left center field alley scored two runners in the fourth and he scored what proved to be the winning run on Nelson's long fly to left.

Bill Wazelewski and Alan Smith shared the Blues pitching chores and had six strikeouts between them. Maines fanned three and Giannuzzi four.

Maroon Netmen Sweep At Monticello, 5-0

Kantrowitz and Smith ran into some resistance in the first doubles set against Trachtenberg and Finkler to win 6-4, but followed with a 6-0 crusher.

Rumors persist that the IBM golf course will locate in the tract of land purchased by Mr. Purdy in the area commonly known as north Flatbush.

This is sheer speculation, of course, but the report gains credence because of Purdy's close association with Robert Trent Jones, the master golf architect.

Furthermore, that particular region is readily adaptable to golf, with rolling ground, trees, beautiful landscape and luxurious natural fairways. It is bound by the Hudson river on the east and Route 32 on the west and is easily accessible from two directions.

Do we sound like we have already started to build the course for IBM? Don't worry about it, if and when an announcement is made, it won't happen until IBM is ready.

• The Nineteenth Green:

Speaking of that Flatbush land, you have also heard, of course, that it might be used for a harness track. Well, that would save a lot of guys we know a long trip to Florida every winter. . . . Boyer Gonzales, the several times Woodstock Country Club champion, expects to return from the University of Washington (Seattle) to spend July and August at his summer residence in Woodstock. Boyer has played golf only once since reporting for his new job last fall and bagged a hole-in-one during the round. . . . Mrs. Hugh R. Elwyn and Mrs. Charles P. Vogel, co-chairmen of the Twaalfskill women's golf committee, planning gala kickoff party with refreshments and golf picture Tuesday night (May 10) at th clubhouse. . . . First Ladies' Day also scheduled next week. . . . Dubby Raichle has lined up inter-club matches with Shawangunk and Woodstock for the mid-town linksmen.

• Sullivan: Land of Many Links:

Robert Trent Jones, who is building Wiltwyck, stopped over for a 90-minute visit with club president, Arthur A. Davis, Tuesday. Jones has been zipping between Florida, New York city and San Francisco where he is toughening up the Olympia layout for the U. S. Open in June. . . . Best guess on Wiltwyck is that nine holes will be ready in five weeks, the entire 18 holes within 10 weeks.

By late summer Wiltwyck will start taking its place with the great golf courses in the eastern part of the country. In 1956 it reaches its zenith with the completion of the new clubhouse.

The rebuilding program at Wiltwyck emphasizes how far Ulster has been behind Dutchess and Sullivan in the matter of golf courses.

There are more than 21 golf courses in Sullivan county surrounded by such scenic beauty that the only complaint may well be from golfers who are too enthralled with the surroundings to play well.

Golf is by no means new to Sullivan county. The first course was built there in 1927 by the world famed golf course architect, A. W. Tellinghast at Grossinger's. Tellinghast is the man Robert Trent Jones succeeded as the No. 1 man in the business. Grossinger's is one of two championship courses in the area, the other being the multi-million dollar Concord International at Kiamesha Lake. This is the fabulous layout that numbers Jack Redmond, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke and Jimmy Demaret on its pro staff.

Joe Turnesa, of the five famous Turnesa brothers, heads the Grossinger staff which also numbers Al Besselink, Dave Douglas and others.

The Concord International's 13th hole has been called one of the most unusual in the country. Here you drive off from a cliff, with a brook-carry, then it dog-legs down a tree screened fairway to a giant trap flanked green on a plateau. Alternate tees, at the foot of the cliff and at brookside help to reduce nerve strain for the more conservative golfers.

There will also be varsity competition in the 180 yard low hurdles, 12 pound shot put, discus throw, javelin, pole vault, broad jump, and high jump. Each of these events will be conducted in two classes, Class I for schools with over 150 boys and Class II for schools with under 150 boys.

The Class I race will see competition between such schools as Arlington, Goshen, Liberty, Middletown, Newburgh, Nyack, Port Jervis, Spring Valley, Suffern and Wappingers Falls.

Class II competition will include Cardinal Farley, Carmel, Croton, Haldane, Highland, Highland Falls, Millbrook, New Paltz, Onteora, Tappan Zee, Tri-Valley and Walden.

A total of 65 trophies will be awarded to the winners of these events with medals and ribbons to the other place winners. A plaque will be presented to the school whose team wins each event.

The large number of different schools and competitors, the magnitude of the contest, and the fine manner in which this relay carnival has been conducted has made it an unusually colorful affair that has won praise from the press as well as spectators, coaches and competitors.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

This isn't the way it was supposed to be at all. Here's Brooklyn shooting at a .900 clip in the National, the league that was set for a dog fight, and a whole pack of teams beating their chests in the American, where the race was thought to be cut and dried.

Brooklyn's bowling over everything in sight, despite seeming unrest over working conditions (Jackie Robinson didn't like sitting on the bench, Roy Campanella was miffed at batting eighth and Don Newcombe drew a suspension when he refused to pitch batting practice).

THE DODGERS NOW have won 18 of 20, sweeping their two-game set with the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday 4-3. Only team to beat Brooklyn so far is the New York Giants. And that's all the Giants have shown to support their world championship banner.

THAT LEFT THE Tigers and Indians a game ahead of Chicago and 1½ ahead of New York, the only two teams expected to wrestle Cleveland for the pennant. The Kansas City A's, whose shift from Philadelphia was figured to be their big move of the season, are in fifth, only three games behind.

Even last place Baltimore is just eight games back.

It was Milwaukee, Brooklyn and New York that were to fight it out for the NL pennant, with St. Louis and Cincinnati providing outside threats. Trouble is, no one can catch the Brooks to tell them they have the wrong script.

The Cubs have been ad libbing well, too. They've second, a half game up on the Giants.

Brooklyn came from behind to smack the Cards, taking a 3-2 lead and then breaking a 3-3 tie on a walk and two sacrifices. Duke Snider drew the pass, then sprinted to third when Ken Boyer left the bag unguarded to join pitcher Harv Haddix and catcher Bill Sarni in pursuit of Campanella's bunt. Rube Walker's pinch fly brought Snider home.

TOM LASORDA started for Brooklyn, but left after a hectic first in which he tied the NL record with three wild pitches in one inning. Wally Moon, sliding home on one of the wild tosses, put a 2-inch spike wound on Lasorda's knee. Clem Labine and Ed Roebuck finished, with Roebuck the winner.

The Giants finally got a victory from Sal Maglie, although he left in the seventh after thunder showers caused almost an hour's delay. Marv Grissom mopped up, yielding a run on Ted Tappe's pinch homer. Billy Gardner got four New York runs home with a single and bases-loaded double.

Moon scored from third when LaSorda uncorked his third wild pitch of the inning. The rookie was taken to a hospital for stitching of a two-inch gash in his right leg.. (AP Wirephoto).

Newcombe Repents And Rejoins Dodgers

Brooklyn, May 6 (AP)—The one-man rebellion and the 24-hour suspension of Don Newcombe ended today with the penitent pitcher ready to accompany the first place Dodgers to Philadelphia and agreeable to pitch whenever Manager Walter Alston issues the summons.

Newcombe, suspended indefinitely yesterday for refusing to pitch batting practice and told to "go home," wasted little time making peace with Alston.

The 28-year-old righthander, in a telephone conversation with Alston last night, expressed regret over his action which the manager had termed "insubordination."

"My arm is all right now. I know I can win. All I want is a chance to prove it. I guess I didn't go about it the right way. Sure, I refused to pitch batting practice but that was because I learned I would not pitch in the coming series in Philadelphia."

FYL Tryouts Set Monday

Fraternal Youth League president, Lou Sapp, has announced baseball tryouts for all boys between the ages of 13 and 15 on Monday, May 9 and Wedensday, May 11, at 6 p. m. at Deitz Stadium.

To date 72 boys have registered for the Fraternal League and all boys who have not registered may do so Monday at the stadium and become eligible for the tryouts.

The league will eventually use 105 boys this year, Sapp said. Of this total at least 40 will be qualified as a result of the tryouts.

The league will operate with seven teams, the same number as in 1954 when the Elks Club won the championship.

Other teams in the league include the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, Rotary, Kiwanis and Volunteer Firemen.

Moore Defends Against Olson In June 22 Bout

New York, May 6 (AP)—Archie Moore signed to defend his light heavy crown against Bobo Olson, the 26-year-old middleweight champ, yesterday. They will meet Wednesday, June 22, at the Polo Grounds.

Olson has fought himself out of opposition among the 160 pounders, whom he has ruled since whipping England's Randy Turpin on Oct. 21, 1953.

SHOULD OLSON defeat Moore he would be forced to relinquish his middleweight laurels.

No terms were announced by the promoting International Boxing Club. Neither were radio and TV arrangements revealed although the bout is booked for Wednesday night, one of the regular TV fight

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp

REPLACING NYLON FISHING LINES

NYLON LINES WON'T ROT, BUT THEY GRADUALLY LOSE THEIR SPRINGINESS FROM BEING IN USE. THIS LOSS WEAKENS BAIT-CASTING AND SPINNING LINES, SO AN UNEXPECTED BREAK MAY COST YOU A GOOD FISH. IT'S WISE TO REPLACE THESE WITH NEW LINES EACH YEAR, OR SOONER IF USED MUCH.

WITH CARE, A FLY LINE LASTS FOR YEARS. IT MAY STRETCH, BUT ITS STRENGTH EXCEEDS. THAT OF ITS LEADER, SO THE LEADER ABSORBS THE PUNISHMENT, AND WILL BREAK FIRST.

Newcombe Repents And Rejoins Dodgers

Brooklyn, May 6 (AP)—The one-man rebellion and the 24-hour suspension of Don Newcombe ended today with the penitent pitcher ready to accompany the first place Dodgers to Philadelphia and agreeable to pitch whenever Manager Walter Alston issues the summons.

Newcombe, suspended indefinitely yesterday for refusing to pitch batting practice and told to "go home," wasted little time making peace with Alston.

"My arm is all right now. I know I can win. All I want is a chance to prove it. I guess I didn't go about it the right way. Sure, I refused to pitch batting practice but that was because I learned I would not pitch in the coming series in Philadelphia."

FYL Tryouts Set Monday

Fraternal Youth League president, Lou Sapp, has announced baseball tryouts for all boys between the ages of 13 and 15 on Monday, May 9 and Wedensday, May 11, at 6 p. m. at Deitz Stadium.

To date 72 boys have registered for the Fraternal League and all boys who have not registered may do so Monday at the stadium and become eligible for the tryouts.

The league will eventually use 105 boys this year, Sapp said. Of this total at least 40 will be qualified as a result of the tryouts.

The league will operate with seven teams, the same number as in 1954 when the Elks Club won the championship.

Other teams in the league include the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, Rotary, Kiwanis and Volunteer Firemen.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Agricultural Market Reporter for filling positions connected with various agricultural products. The positions pay $4,205 to $5,940 a year and are located principally in the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States. To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate experience or education. No written test is required. Further information and application forms may be obtained from William P. Barry, examiner in charge at the main post office.

Record for Chrysler

New York, May 5 (AP)—Chrysler Corp., pushing hard for a bigger share of the U. S. auto market, sold $958,128,384 worth of products in the first three months of 1955 to chalk up a record for any quarter in its history. Earnings of $34,504,730 equal to $3.96 per common share set a new record for any first quarter, dwarfing the $7,681,053 or 88 cents a share in the like period a year ago when sales amounted to $529,478,715. L. L. Colbert, president, and K. T. Keller, chairman, announced yesterday that the company made its gains in earnings and sales despite a lower volume of defense work.

Bill On Airlines

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The Senate has passed and sent to the House a compromise version of a bill to require the Civil Aeronautics Board to issue permanent certificates to 14 regional airlines. At present, the local carriers operate under temporary CAB certificates. The bill, approved by the Senate yesterday, would give the board leeway in issuing permanent certificates for each point on feeder line routes. It would not be required to include a city which it finds has insufficient traffic. The lines include Mohawk Airlines and Allegheny Airlines.

Steal Load of Meat

New York, May 6 (AP)—Police broadcast a city-wide alarm today for a refrigerator truck containing 18,000 pounds of meat, valued at $10,000. Also being sought were three men, one of them armed, who held up the driver at 6th avenue and Grand street shortly before 3 a. m., and drove off with the truck. The victim, Clemente Napolitano, 47, of Brooklyn, was forced out of the truck when he stopped for a red light. One of the robbers sped off in the truck while the other two forced Napolitano into their car and drove him to 10th avenue and 150th street, Whitestone, Queens, where they freed him.

Favor $1.25 Wage

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The 17 House Democrats from New York favor boosting the 75-cent minimum hourly wage to $1.25. And the delegation said yesterday that the Eisenhower administration's proposal for a 90-cent level was a "glaring injustice." The group asserted in a statement that the New York State Department of Labor maintained that a working woman who lived with her family must "have an hourly minimum wage of $1.22 if the health, morale and general economic welfare of the country are to be protected."

Actress Is Casualty

Cannes, France, May 6 (AP)—Grace Kelly, Oscar-winning star of "The Country Girl," was a casualty at yesterday's battle of flowers. A flying carnation hit her in the eye as she rode in a carriage. She had to return to her hotel. Three hundred thousand bouquets were hurled to and fro during the battle, which was fought with the aid of most of the movie stars attending the Cannes Film Festival. In addition to Miss Kelly, they included Esther Williams and Van Johnson.

Fireman Loses Life

New York, May 6 (AP)—A roaring fire with 50-foot-high flames cost the life of a fireman and destroyed a five-story loft building near the lower tip of Manhattan last night. The fireman, Frederick L. Cumming, collapsed at the top of an aerial ladder. Efforts of an emergency squad failed to revive him and he died of smoke poisoning before reaching a hospital. Owners of the structure estimated damage at $100,000.

Civil Service Exam

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Agricultural Market Reporter for filling positions connected with various agricultural products. The positions pay $4,205 to $5,940 a year and are located principally in the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States. To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate experience or education. No written test is required. Further information and application forms may be obtained from William P. Barry, examiner in charge at the main post office.

Record for Chrysler

New York, May 5 (AP)—Chrysler Corp., pushing hard for a bigger share of the U. S. auto market, sold $958,128,384 worth of products in the first three months of 1955 to chalk up a record for any quarter in its history. Earnings of $34,504,730 equal to $3.96 per common share set a new record for any first quarter, dwarfing the $7,681,053 or 88 cents a share in the like period a year ago when sales amounted to $529,478,715. L. L. Colbert, president, and K. T. Keller, chairman, announced yesterday that the company made its gains in earnings and sales despite a lower volume of defense work.

Bill On Airlines

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The Senate has passed and sent to the House a compromise version of a bill to require the Civil Aeronautics Board to issue permanent certificates to 14 regional airlines. At present, the local carriers operate under temporary CAB certificates. The bill, approved by the Senate yesterday, would give the board leeway in issuing permanent certificates for each point on feeder line routes. It would not be required to include a city which it finds has insufficient traffic. The lines include Mohawk Airlines and Allegheny Airlines.

Steal Load of Meat

New York, May 6 (AP)—Police broadcast a city-wide alarm today for a refrigerator truck containing 18,000 pounds of meat, valued at $10,000. Also being sought were three men, one of them armed, who held up the driver at 6th avenue and Grand street shortly before 3 a. m., and drove off with the truck. The victim, Clemente Napolitano, 47, of Brooklyn, was forced out of the truck when he stopped for a red light. One of the robbers sped off in the truck while the other two forced Napolitano into their car and drove him to 10th avenue and 150th street, Whitestone, Queens, where they freed him.

Favor $1.25 Wage

Washington, May 6 (AP)—The 17 House Democrats from New York favor boosting the 75-cent minimum hourly wage to $1.25. And the delegation said yesterday that the Eisenhower administration's proposal for a 90-cent level was a "glaring injustice." The group asserted in a statement that the New York State Department of Labor maintained that a working woman who lived with her family must "have an hourly minimum wage of $1.22 if the health, morale and general economic welfare of the country are to be protected."

Actress Is Casualty

Cannes, France, May 6 (AP)—Grace Kelly, Oscar-winning star of "The Country Girl," was a casualty at yesterday's battle of flowers. A flying carnation hit her in the eye as she rode in a carriage. She had to return to her hotel. Three hundred thousand bouquets were hurled to and fro during the battle, which was fought with the aid of most of the movie stars attending the Cannes Film Festival. In addition to Miss Kelly, they included Esther Williams and Van Johnson.

Fireman Loses Life

New York, May 6 (AP)—A roaring fire with 50-foot-high flames cost the life of a fireman and destroyed a five-story loft building near the lower tip of Manhattan last night. The fireman, Frederick L. Cumming, collapsed at the top of an aerial ladder. Efforts of an emergency squad failed to revive him and he died of smoke poisoning before reaching a hospital. Owners of the structure estimated damage at $100,000.

Joins Hearing Group

Gerald R. Wescott, a hearing aid dealer with offices at 7 Main street, was notified today of his acceptance as a regular member of the American Hearing Aid Association, a non-profit organization dedicated to the scientific solution of hearing problems.
